UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

CONSENT FORM

Online Dating Survey

Researchers: Camille Cobb, student, Computer Science & Engineering, (206) 543-1695; Yoshi Kohno, professor and faculty advisor, Computer Science & Engineering

Researchers' statement

We are asking you to be in a research study. The purpose of this consent form is to give you the information you will need to help you decide whether to be in the study or not. Please read the form carefully. You may ask questions about the purpose of the research, what we would ask you to do, the possible risks and benefits, your rights as a volunteer, and anything else about the research or this form that is not clear by sending an email to cobbc12@cs.washington.edu. When we have answered all your questions, you can decide if you want to be in the study or not. This process is called "informed consent." You may save a copy of this form for your records.

PURPOSE OF THE STUDY

The purpose of this research is to explore how people think about security and privacy when using online dating services. This will include questions about your use of online dating services, interactions with others via online dating services, and feelings about certain situations in online dating.

STUDY PROCEDURES

This study will consist of a survey. We expect that the survey will take less than 45 minutes to complete, but we will not record or limit the amount of time you spend on it.

At the end of the survey, we will ask if you are willing to let us to follow up with you. The purpose of follow-up communication would be to ask more detailed questions based on responses to this survey. We expect that any follow-up communications will take no more than an hour of your time, but probably much less. Providing your email address for follow-up does not mean you are obligated to participate in any follow-up procedures. There will be a separate consent process for any follow-up procedures.

You may refuse to answer any question or item in this survey or any follow-up communication.

RISKS, STRESS, OR DISCOMFORT

Although there are no physical risks to participating in this study, some participants may feel uncomfortable answering certain questions. Your answers to certain questions may reveal sensitive information which could put you at risk if it were accidentally disclosed. The most sensitive questions ask about your use of alcohol and other drugs. If you provide your email address, we will separate this from your survey responses within two days. Your email address will be linked to your survey responses via a unique code. This code and your email address will be destroyed at the end of the study. We will ensure that data remains confidential and protect against accidental disclosure by storing responses on a password-protected computer.

BENEFITS OF THE STUDY

The main benefit of participating in this study is to help us understand how people use and think about online dating services, and potentially help influence future design or policy decisions.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF RESEARCH INFORMATION

Data collected through this survey will be kept anonymous unless you provide your email address to opt-in to follow-up communication. However, even if you provide your email address, your data will be kept confidential. Government or university staff sometimes review studies such as this one to make sure they are being done safely and legally. If a review of this study takes place, your records may be examined. The reviewers will protect your privacy. The study records will not be used to put you at legal risk of harm.

OTHER INFORMATION

You may refuse to participate and you are free to withdraw from this study at any time without penalty or loss of benefits to which you are otherwise entitled.

Subject's statement

This study has been explained to me. I volunteer to take part in this research. I have had a chance to ask questions. If I have questions later about the research, or if I have been harmed by participating in this study, I can contact one of the researchers listed on the first page of this consent form. If I have questions about my rights as a research subject, I can call the Human Subjects Division at (206) 543-0098. I can save a copy of this consent form.

By continuing, you confirm that you are an adult and consent to participate in this study.

Profile Content

Questions throughout the survey are phrased in the present tense, but we are interested in your answers even if you are not actively using online dating services. Please answer based on your previous experiences with online dating services even if you do not still use them.

We would like to understand more about the content in your online dating profile(s). For the following questions, please indicate which content is contained in any of your online dating profiles.
